Dear Students,

Words fall short when one asks a bookworm to describe the importance of books in her/his life. They are a world in itself, capable of nourishing, replenishing and overwhelming. You could get lost in a world of books to never ever return as the same person. There is much to thank authors and poets for and World Book Day, celebrated on April 23, serves as the perfect occasion for this.

Students are requested to read atleast one book and submit a book review for same.

THANKS.
